

TARGET #1

Hi, my name is _____ and, I'm a victim of mind control. I believe it's a result of a domestic dispute. I tried reporting abuse and ended up being a TI involving these people. My name has been slandered to the extreme that my family has turned on me and no one will believe my story. These people have connections in high places. I've been a target, I believe, since at least 2008 due to experiences, but the real torture started last year. Almost every symptom I've read online about being a TI have affected me. I've been a victim of mass gang stalking and bullying from family, co-workers, strangers and the perps doing this most likely through RNM. They have subjected me to mental torture/ pain and tried to make me seem/go crazy. I've felt physical pain and sexual stimulation via their equipment. My life is threatened everyday, and am told if I don't sign my children over to the family that is corrupt and involved in this that I'll be tortured or killed. I've had my phone and computer messed with so I'm more isolated. These people have tried to get me through multiple tactics to feel I have no one to turn to and I should give up because I won't win and have marked me for suicide or assassination. And that I will be tortured into submitting to give up what they want. I feel something bad will happen to me rather its death or putting me away. I have been discredited to the point that it's hard tell anybody and that no one will listen. This is my chance to get my story out so if something does happen to me, that at least someone has heard. It's scary to know that your body and mind can be controlled to a point. They've shown me that they can make me lose my train of thought and even make me not even consciously aware of my mind. I couldn't think of anything for 10-20 seconds and had no conscious thought. It was like I was only physically there. And have been told my memory can be erased and I can end up mentally disabled. I don't know if this is true, but some believe that the population can be mass controlled through means of like microchip ping or even just through sat. That maybe even our gov. controlled food supply can supply these very tiny chips that can affect mood(anger), health, and even our way of thinking. So please pray for me!

